SUMERIAN MANNERS AND CUSTOMS.

A fashionably-down-to-earth Miss made her way to the Smith Premier Typewriter Factory, and with a smile, bought a typewriter. She had been looking for one for quite some time, and was overjoyed to finally find one she liked. The salesperson was happy to help her, and explained all the features of the machine in detail.

"This is the perfect machine," she said. "It has everything I need, and it's so compact." She was thrilled to take it home, and promised herself to practice her typing every day.

"I'm sure you'll love it," the salesman said, handing her the keys to her new typewriter. "It's a beautiful machine, and it will serve you well for many years to come."

Agricultural Hints: Becoming a Necessity

The demand for good roads is so great that it is difficult to find time to discuss the merits of the various methods of road construction. Good roads are necessary, not only for the comfort of the traveler, but for the safety of life and property. The roads of the state are not in as good a condition as they should be. The reason for this is that there has been a lack of foresight in the past. The people of the state have not realized the importance of good roads.

The first step in the construction of good roads is the selection of a suitable location. The location should be such that it will be easy to construct the road and that it will not be damaged by the elements. The next step is the selection of a suitable material. The material should be such that it will be easy to use and that it will be strong and durable. The third step is the construction of the road. This should be done by skilled laborers who are trained in the art of road construction.

The roads of the state should be constructed in such a manner that they will be able to withstand the test of time. The road should be wide enough to accommodate the traffic and should be well drained. The road should be made of a suitable material and should be well compacted.

The state should take an active part in the construction of good roads. The state should provide the necessary funds and should see that the roads are constructed in a proper manner.

In conclusion, the demand for good roads is so great that it is necessary for the people of the state to take an active part in the construction of good roads. The state should provide the necessary funds and should see that the roads are constructed in a proper manner.

Cheese Making

How to Make Cheese

The New England Homemaker gives the following directions for making cheese:

\[\text{Cheese Formula} = \frac{1}{2} \text{lb milk} + \frac{1}{4} \text{lb rennet}\]

The milk should be heated to 90 degrees F and then allowed to cool to 70 degrees F. The rennet should be dissolved in a little warm water and added to the milk. The mixture should be kept at a temperature of 65 to 70 degrees F until it begins to curdle. The curd should be cut into small pieces and allowed to stand for 24 hours. The curd should then be removed from the whey and allowed to drain for 24 hours.

In conclusion, cheese making is a simple process and can be done at home. The cheese is a nutritious food and can be enjoyed at any time of the year. The cheese is a good source of protein and calcium.

Hog Slaughtering

A correspondent writing to the New York Times gives the following information on hog slaughtering:

- There are 12,000 pigs in the town of New York, and of these pigs, 10,000 are in the city and 2,000 are in the country.
- The demand for pork is so great that the farmers are forced to slaughter their hogs early in the year.
- The hogs are slaughtered by cutting the throat and allowing the blood to flow into a trough. The hogs are then dressed and the meat is sold.

In conclusion, hog slaughtering is a common practice in the town of New York. The demand for pork is so great that the farmers are forced to slaughter their hogs early in the year.

Women and Good Roads

Women in New York City, as in other large cities, have the right to have the full enjoyment of their property, the homes, carriages, and roads. And over and above all the farmer more than either woman has good roads, therefore these efforts are wrongly maligned. Women, for good reason, want and desire a change of condition. State, city, and county wills such a condition.

In conclusion, women have the right to have the full enjoyment of their property, the homes, carriages, and roads. The demand for good roads is so great that it is necessary for the people of the state to take an active part in the construction of good roads. The state should provide the necessary funds and should see that the roads are constructed in a proper manner.
