County tax ‘greetings’ a fortnight away

by Rick Jones
In about two weeks, Livingston county treasurer Sylvia Bashore will put more than 3,200 tax bills in the mail.
This anticipates at least 300 of those statements will get their taxes “under protest,” seeming been processed with greater assurance practices.

And sometimes in the next two weeks, somebody is going to have to figure out where the treasurer is to handle these protest payments.

Mrs. Bashore is waiting for a return call from Jane Spivy, head of the property tax appeal board in Springfield. The treasurer is seeking an offer to meet every week or so, on the protest tax bill issue.

There is a water “at the office, people is going to have to explain what we do in the office, paid under protest. That is likely to have to come from更高的头, Dan Bernard after he has a chance to study the situation and talk with Mrs. Spivy in Springfield.

“Need to understand them, it is going to be a month or two. It is going on like this.” Mrs. Bashore said this week and she has a point.

When Mrs. Spivy told Bokey to have his property owners “pay under protest,” she may have given that advice in order to assure the taxpayers would be saved by a new state law which says any processed annual interest will be tacked onto any appeals made to the board. A result of such appeals on protest tax bills is expected to have been handled.

In other words, if you pay under protest, and your appeal is upheld on appeal, the county must refund the excess tax you have paid plus five percent interest per year halted while the issue is resolved.

Mrs. Bashore said that five percent interest charge could add up to “an additional” on the appeal.

The board handles about 800 to 1,000 cases per year. However, state officials expect to have an overall of $3 to $4 million.

Fall sports Preview section this week in Cornbelt papers

A special fall sports preview issue, featuring Fall sports from the Cornbelt districts, will be in the Friday papers.

Two schools will field football teams, but most of the sports will be played in regular intra-district play.

School market by the footballs, and others will be played only as scheduled.

The flights are also playing with the Forest View-Wash and the Wash-West teams, each school.

In other words, the football team is the same at the end of the month, the Board of the Board of Education is also serving the same number of people who are and in fact, they don’t just do it on their own

2nd generation takes over operation of school buses

In March 1932, Lyle Delton bought the Fairbury-Cropsey, Ford Central, Forrest, and Livingston county buses and started operating the school bus business in the area. The buses were purchased from the U.S. government and started running on a schedule.

In 1984, Lyle Delton’s son, Jeff, took over the operation of the bus company.

In 2000, Jeff’s son, Ike, took over the operation of the bus company.

Today, the buses are still running under the same name, operating on the same routes. The buses are now in their 8th year of operation and are still running.

In 2012, Fairbury-Cropsey, Ford Central, and Forrest, took over the operation of the bus company.

In 2014, the buses were bought by another company and are now running under their own name.

East as often as I am picking around in seed-look-alike stores, I will run into a county historian period a century or so ago. Most of these historians are deceased so that you can't get what personal history they have included in the account.

Unfortunately, county histories from the 19th century were not complete in listing families. To appear in the volume, a family member was required to make a monetary pledge, and many times to agree to buy at least one copy of the history.

As a result, the older histories are somewhat biased in their description of early personalities, because those who could not afford to buy the copy were not a part of the family history.

Family history is now in the process of putting together a new history, with the last we appear in 1893.

The county historical society is not charging for up to 100 words per family, and consider that a step in the right direction because every county family account will be mentioned. County histories were not told up to the 1920s. The county histories were not told up to the 1920s in the 1890s.

For those who want to begin the step of digging into their family records, I am giving some suggestions as to what to do in having some sources at writing a family history.

You have to be willing to accept the fact that you won't find everything. You also must realize that the process takes time. The process takes time. It is a step-by-step process. The process takes time. It is a step-by-step process. The process takes time. It is a step-by-step process. The process takes time. It is a step-by-step process. The process takes time. It is a step-by-step process.

If you can describe some families, then do the following:

1. Have a three-ring notebook. You want little to add pages as you go, and you want a way to mark a fact so you can group people who married at the same time. 2. Decide the maximum information that you will attempt to get about each person. For example, you may want to know the birth date, month, day, and year; first, middle, and last name; place of birth; parents names (including mother's maiden name); address of living place; date of death; and burial place. There's more than this, but if you get yourself taking notes on the family members that are in the individual stories later when and if such things come your way. 3. Get a source to a historical heart beat at the start of the project—your charting by telling about yourself. By the time you have told about yourself, you will attempt to get about each person. For example, you may want to know your birth date, month, day, and year; first, middle, and last name; place of birth; parents names (including mother's maiden name); address of living place; date of death; and burial place. There's more than this, but if you get yourself taking notes on the family members that are in the individual stories later when and if such things come your way. 4. Get your sources and a psychological heart beat at the start of the project—your charting by telling about yourself. By the time you have told about yourself, you will attempt to get about each person. For example, you may want to know your birth date, month, day, and year; first, middle, and last name; place of birth; parents names (including mother's maiden name); address of living place; date of death; and burial place. There's more than this, but if you get yourself taking notes on the family members that are in the individual stories later when and if such things come your way. 5. Ford county 4-H to help at Farm Progress show

Ford County 4-H is about to embark on their largest fund raising project ever, helping run the Coca-Cola stand at the Farm Progress Show September 25, 26, and 27 in Fairbury. 4-H will be working with Champaign County, as well as Ford and Chatham County FFA (separately on this venture). The show could be called the State Fair of Agriculture. It is sponsored by Prairie Farmer magazine in Illinois. The show travels between states with next year's show being held in Indiana and the following year in Iowa.

This year's show is being held on six miles south of Chenoa in the Ford County Fairgrounds. A total of two hundred sixty people are needed to run Ford County's 4-H's share of the drink stands during the weekend work times. The volunteers will be needed at Ford County, and during the planning for the Wednesday of the show, additional volunteers are also needed on Tuesday and Thursday. If you would like to volunteer to help this year, please call Don Steener (477-7731)

MARK BACHTOLD OF FCHS intercepts a pass
Inexperience is the key at FSW

"Inexperience" is the buzz word at Forrest-Strawn-Wing high school this fall as coach Dale Haab heads into his fourth season at the Eskimo helm.

"Last year's squad went 6-3, including a 4-3 mark in the Sangamon Valley Conference. But more than a dozen letterwinners graduated from that squad. Seven letterwinners come back, but, as we said, inexperience is the key."

The keys to our having a good season are to avoid injuries and to have our inexperienced players develop quickly," Haab said. "Kid quarterbck Brent Crane is one of the players Haab is counting on to carry the load. Crane is a letterman, but he saw little time at quarterback with lefty Scott Gulliford on hand."

"If Crane could have started for a lot of teams last year," his coach said, "he has a lot of potential."

"So Crane gives FSW the ability to again throw the football. The question becomes: who can catch it?" Letterman Steve Crane is one of the players Haab is counting on to carry the load. Crane is a letterman, but he saw little time at quarterback with lefty Scott Gulliford on hand.

"If Crane could have started for a lot of teams last year," his coach said, "he has a lot of potential."

In the offensive line, Haab has the Mabrey twins, Tom and Jerry, tipping the scales at 230 and 240 to anchor things down. Letterman Ben Leman will return to play guard. The only returning offensive starter is fullback Toney Dubree.

Haab sees the Sangamon Valley race as tight one this fall, listing a huge Farmer City-Manfield team as the favorite, but giving a second look at LeRoy, Heyworth and Fisher.

"We hope to develop quickly and become winners," Haab said. "The coach will have his work cut out for him. After the opener with Planagan, the Eskimos will face Chenoa in what promises to be a tough non-conference battle. Then comes the SVC slate with the first three games against title hopefuls Fisher, Heyworth and LeRoy. Farmer City comes at the end of October."
'Potential to be competitive'

By LARRY KIRLANDS

With one returning letter person and eight freshmen on a 13-lady squad, one might think that the outlook for Chatsworth high school volleyball this season would be less than optimistic.

But coach Gene Riha says, "We have reason to feel that the potential is there to be competitive."

Sarah Weber, a cornerstone of girls' athletics at CHS for the past three years, returns as the lone letter winner. Teri Saxton, Dottie Culkin, and Angie Dohman are other seniors providing maturity and experience on the squad.

Brenda Sharp is a sophomore Riha is banking on to get in plenty of floor time. "With a young group like this, we have to use practice for the fundamentals," Riha said. "But Chatsworth always has a positive attitude toward sports, and this team will carry on the tradition."

"We are down on size somewhat from last year, but will still be physical enough to take care of ourselves."

Riha knows that freshmen will have to step up to the varsity right away, and can draw from Deb Kessinger, Kelli Gerth, Michelle Birkenbeil, Teresa Bryant, Lara Elliott, Bobby Jo Baker, Lisa DeMuth, and Lisa Larson among the yearlings.

"I know from the backgrounds of those girls in junior high that they will catch on quickly and do their parts," Riha said.

He sees the conference as evenly divided in volleyball, and would not be surprised if any one of four or five teams would win the title—including Chatsworth.

All games begin at 6:30 p.m. both home and away for CHS, with the season beginning at Odell Aug. 27. Starred games are conference counters.

Wants to repeat season

With four returning starters from last year's 13-3 squad, hopes for repeating or bettering the previous record looked good until coach Ric Rose resigned from the Tri-Point teaching staff in early August.

When school officials made the decision not to replace the junior high teaching and high school girls volleyball/basketball coaching positions held by Rose, Duane Hitchens, a personal friend of Ric Rose, accepted the position as volleyball coach. "When Ric told me he was leaving he asked me if I would take over his volleyball coaching duties," said Hitchens. "Ric didn't want to see a team who'd worked so hard the past few years, be left without an opportunity to compete for another successful year."

Although coaching is a new experience for the Tri-Point art instructor, he has an optimistic outlook for the coming season. "I was leary at first when Ric approached me about coaching the team," Hitchens said. "We'd built up a good squad, and only lost two senior starters, Cindy Hindman (all WC MBS) and Gail Donley (VVC honorable mention) to graduation last year." Hitchens said the girls have cooperated 100 percent and the week and a half since practice began has been a "learning experience" for all.

According to veteran squad members, Melvin-Sibley is the team to beat in the Vermillion Valley Conference this year. "I really didn't keep abreast of WC action last year, in fact I didn't see a game, so I'm going along with what the team tells me from past experience during last year's season," Hitchens added. New coach at Saunemin

By SHARON SHIFLETT
Staff Writer

Saunemin volleyball coach Mike Ayers, a former resident of Peoria, comes to Saunemin from Wyoming, Ill., where he taught part time last year.

Although Ayers is new in the coaching field, volleyball isn't entirely new to him.

While in college, Ayers was enrolled in some volleyball coaching courses, and has some experience in officiating the game.

With only one returning varsity letterman, Ayers sees this season as a rebuilding year.

"Six senior lettermen graduated this past spring, so with only one letterman from last year's squad, I really can't make any predictions yet," said Ayers.

Ayers didn't have the opportunity to see last year's junior varsity squad, and said, having only practiced about a week, making premature predictions is out of the question.

"I'm not ready to honestly say what I think we can do this season, but winning the conference and regional isn't completely out of my mind."

Ayers said his main goal for the squad is for them to "put forth their best potential" for a successful season.

Saunemin opens the season with a non-conference match against Fairbury Sept. 6.

Tartars switch to wishbone attack

By RICK JONES
Staff Writer

Tartar fans will long remember the 1993 season: a perfect 9-0 slate; a Sangamon Valley Conference championship; and, alas, a bevy of now-graduated seniors.

When first-year head coach Brian Nuss opened practice a few weeks ago, he already knew that his would not be the only familiar face in the FCHS football picture for 1994.

Gone is the entire backfield. Gone is a major part of the line.

With that many new faces needing to find a spot in the lineup, coach Nuss has installed the offensive set he feels most comfortable with, the wishbone. Nuss was an assistant at Lennox high school when the Minutemen used Mick Freed to run their wishbone attack all the way to the state championship game.

Junior Mark Bachtold, a backup quarterback in 1993, will get the call this time around. "I think Mark will run it pretty well," his coach said. "He's beginning to pick it up."

Two seniors, Randy Stephens and Dan Eisenmann, are vying for the fullback job. Stephens was the starting center on last year's team. Eisenmann is out for the first time.

Three players will rotate at running back in the Tartar wishbone. Juniors Tim Stork and Ty Cottrell will share the ball-carrying duties with freshman Ritchie Doran. Doran turned in the squad's best time in the 40-yard dash.

You're a real Tartar junkie if you can name the team's second-fastest 40-yard dash man. The distinction goes out to a back, but to junior lineman Tony McCoy, who will go on both offense and defense in 1994 after lettering last year.

Lloyd Stark returns to play tight end. Kai Kohlmann will handle the snaps. David Herzog will play one guard position. The remaining spots are up for grabs.

Offense, Nuss plans to keep the 6-4 system used by the team in 1993. Lloyd Stark, Eisenmann, McCoy and Herzog look to man the down four positions. Linebacker candidates include Tim Stork, Cottrell, Stephens and Kohlmann.

In the defensive backfield, the Tartars will likely field some combination of Bachtold, Doran, Brian Vaughan, Todd Menke and Lyle Bazzell.

"The 6-4 defense is what I had in mind so I'm glad we could keep that from last year," Nuss said. "The kids seem to be picking up the wishbone. They think it is a little easier system to learn than the one they used last year."

As defending conference champions, and with so many seniors gone from that team, Nuss realizes that the Tartars will be on hit lists all around the conference.

He pegs Heyworth and LeRoy as the likely teams to beat with Ford Central showing great improvement over last year's unit which was almost entirely made up of underclassmen.

How about the Tartars' chances? "I think we'll be very competitive if we can keep people healthy," Nuss said.

FCHS girls look for excellence

What a difference a year makes.

Twelve months ago, Fairbury-Cropsey volleyball coach Gayle Haab opened practice with just two returning varsity players. Everyone else was very inexperienced.

Last year was THE YEAR Tartar opponents had been waiting for, or so they might have thought. To be sure, the FCHS team stumbled its way to a tie or two in the first half of the season as the coach searched for a lineup.

But the final month provided a storybook finish. The Tartars got hot. Haab led her team to the regional title and on to the finals of the sectional tournament.

As practice opened in 1984, only two seniors are missing. Everyone else is back. The Tartars could well be one of central Illinois' premier teams, if the girls set their minds to it.

"You must remember this is still a very young team," coach Haab said following a recent practice. "We still only have one senior player, Shelley Weber, who was a starter for us last year."

Two other seniors on the squad, Julie Farley and Janet Hoffman, saw limited duty in 1983, although Farley became the setterub at the season's end.

"The depth for this year's team begins to form at the junior level. Jennifer Beyer and Carol Ward forged their way into the starting lineup at mid-season, adding quickness to the squad. Jackie Hoffman returns for-setting duties, although she likely will be replaced for defensive purposes at the net.

Another junior, Christy Tetley, saw very limited duty on the varsity level in 1983. But Christy has been a major factor in the Tartar practices and could develop this fall into a regular. The other junior looking for playing time is Stacey Colclasure, up from last year's unbeaten frosh-soph team.

Three sophomores, Staci Ambrose and a pair of six-footers, Amy Moore and Julie Thompson, have looked good in the early going and will push for varsity time.

Freshman Amy Vaughan will also likely see some considerable varsity floor time.

Despite her own warnings about the team's youth, coach Haab admits excitement about the chances for a very successful campaign. Last year, she built a team. This time, she hopes to see that team become potentially very good.

"We do have some talent. The girls have worked very hard in practice. We have bench strength. We could be very good by the end of the season," the coach says.

And that's the situation at FCHS. This year's team could be a good one. Or if the girls set their minds to it, this team could be a very good one.

The Tartars' schedule reads:

New coach leads Rockets

By PEG REYNOLDS

Octavia High school's new head football coach Dean Barges says he will be pleased with his kids if they are competitive, if they stay in every game.

"If they continue to work as hard as they have, I'll be satisfied with that. A coach would like to win every game, but realistically, you don't know whether you can win or not.

"But if we stay competitive and can avoid any injuries, we will turn out alright."

The players attitude and their willingness to learn Barges sees as his team's greatest strength.

Returning lettermen will be Mike Rathbun 185 lb.; Ritch Cooper, 184 lb.; Gordy Golden, 230 lb.; Nick O’Neill, 14 lb.; Fred Britz, 135 lb.; Alan Weppler, 175 lb.; and Joe Byrne, 150 lb.

Barges says Cooper will hopefully start playing in a few weeks following recover from ankle surgery.

The Rockets may be hurt with a lack of numbers, as it has been in the past few years.

Barges has 14 varsity players and 12 freshmen.

"LeRoy seems to be the team to beat," says Barges. "Farm City has a good number of players."

The Rockets will be host to Reddick tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m.

The coach would appreciate seeing fans at the games to show their support as they have in the past.

Octavia High school volleyball coach Mike Winter says his goal for his team is to do well in the McLean County tournament that Octavia will host this year.

"I guess I'm at a point where doing well is more important to me than winning a trophy. I guess they go hand in hand, if you do one, your going to have a better chance at the other," says Winter.

"I think realistically, we can be among the top four in the county and I'd like to challenge at the regional also."

"As a team, it depends a lot on your psyche, how we feel about what we're doing at the time. We don't have any big killer or server. What we have to concentrate on is team plays. That has to fall in as you playing the game. They have to feel good about what their doing, as a team.

"I'm confident in a way, but I'm wary also. I've learned that in my years of coaching. The most optimistic thing can turn out poorly and the best looking things can turn out poorly.

"I have seen a lot of really good individual talent in the last two weeks that has really impressed me. Again, I've seen it not come together as well as it can yet.

"We've got the talent to challenge people. I don't know if they have the execution yet, that remains to be seen."

"Having only lost two seniors from last year, the Rockets have a lot of experience."

"That's a definite strength, there's not going to be anyone getting rattled out there." Seniors are Melissa Gillis and Terri Schuler. They are added by juniors Traci Roelfs, Karen Rider, Karla Raber and Brenda York.

Sophomores, that have already had varsity experience are Amy Gillis, Stephanie Hilgemann, Kelly Johnson and Angie Monical.

Winter has another large asset, eight strong freshmen coming up that did well last year. They include Kim Brucker, Jenny Coldren, Amy Hansen, Shannon Hays, Dana Poppe, Janice Poppe, Leann Whalen and Patti Rodriguez.

Winter sees Tri-Valley as a possible strong contender. "They are losing quite a few people, but I know they are a strong group of young people coming up."

Gridley goes with jayvee program

By Evelyn Hardman
Staff Writer

While most high school varsity football teams will begin their season Sept. 7, Gridley for the first time in 40 years will not field a varsity squad. Plagued by the lack of numbers for the past several seasons, Gridley decided to give up its varsity schedule for two seasons. The program will go with a Fresh Soph and Freshman schedule this year, next year a Fresh Soph and JV schedule and then in 1986 come back with varsity, JV and Freshman.

Last October when the board of education in Gridley decided to drop varsity football for two seasons, Supt. Gene Cwick said, "we have to think of the safety of our kids, the numbers are down, next year (this season) we would have too few experienced players for a varsity football team and we can't put small and inexperienced underclassmen at the varsity level against varsity teams with the caliber that the Midstate Conference offers." First year coach Jim Frey is optimistic about the season. He stated that practice has gone pretty well but they had an illness stage recently and have a lot of inexperienced players this year.

Inexperienced players would be expected with 14 freshman boys out and six sophomores. Of the sophomores out, only Merle Arbogast, Nathan Mock and Jon Wilson were out for football last year. Practice started Aug. 13 and Frey has almost half of the boys in high school out for football. There are just 48 boys in high school.

Gridley enjoyed some of its greatest success in it's history under Ken Leonard, a 32-9 record in four years, two Midstate Conference and two state playoffs.

Winning promotes good attitudes, interest and desire. Desire is one thing that Gridley hasn't had a shortage on in football over the years and should that continue Coach Frey will find football in Gridley fun and exciting.

The interest is there or there would not have been 20 boys report for football this year. They are Merle Arbogast, John Meiss, Nathan Mock, Steve Neuhalfen, Duane Otto and Jon Wilson, all sophomores. Freshman are Ed Alvare, Jordan Alvarez, Aaron Chapai, Lance Hanfland, Curt Hogland, Todd Hogland, Troy Kaupp, Merle Arbogast, Bill Liming, Glenn Schieler, Phil Slagell, Doug Smith, John Wade and Mike Zeleznik.

The 1984 Redskins open their season with a freshman game at home Sept. 8 at 1:30 p.m. with Dee-Mack. The Fresh Soph squad will start their season at the Forrest-Straun-Wing Jamboree in Forrest Sept. 10 at 6:30 p.m.

Redskins want winning season

By Evelyn Hordman
Staff Writer

While the lack of numbers may not have plagued the football program at Gridley for the several years Coach Barb Ringger has been associated with the school, he is still hoping for a better performance this year.

Coach Ringger is not only looking for his returners to have a good season, but he is also hoping to get some of his younger players involved. He would like to see a better season than the 8-10-4 in 1983.

But before he can change things around, Coach Ringger feels that he needs to improve his team's performance. He believes that they have the potential to be successful, and he is working hard to make sure that they have a chance to win.

The remaining varsity players are Sandy Maubach, a senior who was absent last year due to injury, and junior Stephanie McNamara, a consistent power server.

The Redskins are looking forward to a successful season. They have a good team, and they are ready to prove it on the field.
El Paso sees much-improved team

By MERLIN HAAS

First year coach Dwight Unzicker hopes his El Paso High School football team will be much improved over last year's team that lost its first eight games enroute to a 1-8 record and a tie for seventh place in the Midstate Conference.

Unzicker was head coach at Chatsworth for three years and took the Bluebirds to a playoff berth in 1978. After Chatsworth dropped football due to declining enrollment, Unzicker was an assistant coach at To-Point (Culbom). His assistant coaches at El Paso will be Steve Schroeder and Mike Selby.

Ten lettermen return in a group of 37 varsity candidates (sophomores on up). Eight seniors lettered last year. They are Quarterback-defensive back Scott Morgan (160), tackle-end Dennis Myers (160), tackle Greg Mool (160) and end-punter Rodney Smoots (190), halfback Dan Newkirk (160), guard David Buck (160), center Todd Williams (150), end-punter Wayne Schramm (130), guard David Hadden and Rahn (125), guard Scott Mool (160) and Brian Cupple (160) who lettered as a lineman last year, but is being moved to fullback and linebacker this season.

Two juniors lettered last year. Quarterback Tim Supan (130) and center Todd Williams (150) took over starting positions midway through last season after injuries to Morgan and Rhodes.

Other senior team members are Kevin Bailey, Shawn Bergquist, Tony Lush, Jeff Reiffel, Jim Reiffel and exchange student Ricardo Montoya. Other juniors are David Buck, Brian Haines, Dave Hadden, Tony Hickey, Rick Kelly, Larry Messer, Clint Ramsey, Bryan Hoggins, Brett McDaniel, and Troy Tegard. Sophomores are Mike Carley, Jeff Kearfott, Dave Aufmuth, Kurt Reynolds, Todd Williams, Rich Jones, Dan Newkirk, Jeff Rieffel and exchange student Tony Hickey, Rick Kelley, Larry Messer, Clint Ramsey, Bryan Hoggins, Brett McDaniel, and Troy Tegard. Coach Unzicker's first project will be to bolster an offense that scored only 62 points all last year and was shut out four times. Improved lineplay will be the key here, as the linemen are small and will have to use good technique in blocking.

The defense will have to replace all-varsity candidates (sophomores on up). Berta Jewett, Rex Pinkham, Sue Ellen Hakes, Amy Hackett, Sue Usher and Sheila Jones.

Only one starter was lost from last year's team, which, depending on individual performances, did

Six seniors lead Comet squad

By MERLIN HAAS
Staff Writer

The El Paso High School girls volleyball team has six letterwinners and a 16 girl squad as they try to rebound from last year's 5-12 record and tie for seventh place in the Midstate Conference. Coach Jan Kollath has her most experienced group, led by last year's leading scorer and spiker Renee Weber. Other senior letterwinners are Ann Vogel, Laura Dukes, Amy Heller, Sue Uphoff, and Sheila Jones. Only one starter was lost off of last year's team, which, despite good individual performances, did not put together much of a team effort. The success of the 1984 team will depend on whether the players jell as a team early on.

The Midstate Conference, which ended in a four way tie for first with M-D-R, Chenoa, Flanagan, and Gridley, recording 5-2 records, will be another wide-open affair this year as any team could challenge for the championship.

The Comets have an expanded schedule, with nine non-conference matches as opposed to only four last year. El Paso opens with a Midstate game at home against Flanagan on Thursday, Sept. 6.

Cougars have sights set higher

By LARRY KNILANDS

Ford Central football coach Vic Jennings says his 1994 football squad has nowhere to go but up after last season. Judging from the size and quality of his team, he has a right to expect an improvement over 1993, when the varsity posted one victory.

With 13 returning lettermen and only one graduating Rich Morrison missing from the starting offensive and defensive units, Jennings has a solid nucleus to work with. "We have seven juniors out to go with 10 seniors, and many of the juniors played plenty last year, so we should know something about how they are to be executed," Jennings said.

He thinks his boys are bigger than last year, but faces the usual small-school problem of lack of depth and overall size. "We should be about average in the league size-wise this year," he said.

Speed may be a hallmark for this season at FC, with a number of boys who are fairly quick. "We will have better speed than the past two seasons, and we should be balanced in the backfield, with several 5-10 yard sprinters," he said.

Even though he has people back at most of the skilled positions, Jennings is cautious about being overly optimistic. "We have a lot of things going for us this time around - and on paper the potential looks good.

"But the rest of the conference will be big and tough. We got beat good sometimes last year, and most of these teams will be sound again. However, we had flashes last year where plays went as we wanted them to, and we will be much more competitive this time around."

Jennings began practice with stress on alignments. "The starting defensive and offensive units, and we will be much more competitive this time around."

Defensively, Vaughn and Lee are listed as ends, with the tackle spots sought by seniors Andy Grohler, Bob Cotter, Troy Roach and juniors Bargmann and Brown. Hummel and Bargmann return as inside linebackers, juniors Bargmann and Cupples as outside linebackers, and backs Thompson, Otto, Onken, and Wiebers.

The Cougars open the season at home in a conference clash with Chenoa Sept. 7 at 7 p.m.

Numbers look good at Ford Central

By LARRY KINLANDS
Staff Writer

Many of the numbers look favorable for Anita Kinate as she begins her first year of coaching girls’ volleyball at Ford Central high school.

Kinate, who taught seven years at Gibson City and coached volleyball for four of those years, has 29 girls on the squad, including four seniors, five letter winners, seven juniors, and a host of 18 freshmen and sophomores to form a junior varsity.

“We have plenty of kids out, and many of them can expect good time,” Kinate said. “And, considering the new rule this year where matches will be decided on the basis of three out of five games as in the state runoffs (last year matches were decided by two out of three), we will need more endurance and more substituting.”

She thinks that with the size of the squad, FC can stand the strain of more games per match. “And I will be able to do some specialized nothing, too,” she added.

The team has started out in practice with stress on conditioning, with every girl running a timed two-mile the first couple days of drills.

“Leg work is critical in volleyball, as well as quickly - and we are continuing to get drills to build up those skills,” she said.

The girls that learn to do bumps, set the ball, move on the court, and maintain a good attitude in order to have a successful season, Kinate says. “We could be strong in the conference if we continue to improve.”

She also thinks the junior high volleyball program is a real plus at FC. “All schools have no junior high schedule, and they wind up being behind when they run up against schools who do.”

Squad members include seniors Sue Birkenbeil and Denise Vaughn (both four years on the squad with letters the last two), Tracy Brown (four years-letter last year), and Helen Kniflands (two years-junior varsity last year).

Juniors include Julie Kief and Michelle Perkins (both out three years and lettering as sophomores), Kris Froehlich (three years four varsity experiences), Mary DeLong, Becky Hoogstraat, Dawn Pleitgen, and Sue Smith.

Sophomores out are Beth Birkenbeil, Kasi Campbell, Connie Carr, Robyn DeLong, Shelly Kading, Bill Morrison, Linda Shaubrook, Brenda Sanner, and Amy Vaughn.

Freshmen reporting are Tara Brooks, Diane Carr, Eileen Freehill, Kristi Jackson, Vicki Kinkade, Heather Rogers, and Cathy Napier.

Raiders battle 10-game schedule

By JIM HOBBS
Staff Writer

Iroquois West Raiders who played as a team for the first time last year, face a tough schedule of 10 games (Oct. 26 date is yet to be scheduled), five of them against conference foes, with a team that Coach John Bom says can better last year's record.

I'm satisfied with the progress this team has made since we started practice," Bom says, "but it remains to be seen whether the very positive attitude the boys have can put the experienced together with the inexperienced. Maybe it'll gel and maybe it won't."

West sports a fairly experienced backfield with returning quarterback Gary Mogged, tackle turned center, Cary Pence at halfback, Mike Kulpers and fullback turned halfback, Cary Pence, all of whom were starters last year. Also experienced, and a starter, Thad Olson at split end, who does a good deal of pass receiving when the mood strikes the team to try it.

Guy Pool, a non starter last year, playing tight end this year, will also be the recipient of Mogged's aerograms. Rich Harrison and Tim Miller will provide, along with Kuipers the only tried experience in the line; Harrison at tackle and Miller at guard.

Coach Bom will have to depend for the rest of Raider team on the untried skills of juniors and seniors who have been out for the team most of their high school careers, but have not seen much playing time. Brian Leyden, at tackle; Mike Chayer at halfback; Steve Smith at split end; Dave Tammen and Rick Koester at guard; Tim Armstrong at tackle; Rob Potter and Kenny Schade at guards will have to fill in the empty spaces.

Depth in the backfield is sparse according to Bom, but Brad Miller and Brian Seegmiller at halfback; along with sophomores Jim Williams, Brian Hines, and Eric Lohle at halfback; and Greg Grills, also a sophomore, backing Mogged at quarterback (a fine performance turned in guiding the blue team at scrimmage) may give some relief to the regulars.

With regard to the Eastern Illinois Conference Bom says, "tough and balanced. It won't be an easy year, but we'll just take it a game at a time."

"If nothing else," Bom said, "I hope we can establish a reputation for hard work and aggressive play."

We hope so too. Go Raiders!!!!!

IW girls seeking improvement

By JIM HOBBS

The only way to go is up.

"We hope to improve on last year's 0-16 record," said coach Stan Schaum berg.

And they should with key lettermen Shelly Small, Robyn Conrad, Kelly Price, and Linda McClure (all seniors) back for this season's play in the Vermillion Valley conference.

Non-lettermen who comple ment "the big four" are senior Shelley Krueger and juniors Tammy Potts, Kim Schriefer, Cindy Blanck and Ronnie Gerdes.

"We have exceptional spirit," said coach Schaum berg, "considering last year's record." "We should be vastly improved," he continued.

"Our biggest drawback will be speed," Schaum berg said. "We're not too quick, but we should be much improved at serving, digging and spiking returns."

"The conference? I just don't know," Schaum berg said.

Minutemen see open race

By HELEN FITCHORN Staff Writer

Lexington High school Minutemen are looking for a 5-4 season but, according to coach Jim Mannioni, "with a little underclass help that could improve." The underclass help Mannioni refers to are the team's sophomores and, Mannioni said, "with a little improvement on their part has the success of the Minuteman season.

The Minutemen have a "fine core of veteran players with loads of experience back for this season. I'm hoping that if we can provide good and positive example, this, coach Shirl Kramer feels, along with team spirit together as a unit, will be the key for the Lady Minutemen."

Major contribution is expected from Bob Printz, center and linebacker; Cary Davis, guard and defensive tackle; Shawn Hohulin, quarterback and free-safety; Steve Beck, tackle and defensive end; Tim Paul, tight end and cornerback; Judy Davis, guard and defensive tackle; Charlie Leake, running back and linebacker.

Mannioni sees five "tough teams" in the Midstate Conference this year. "It should be a very competitive race down to the wire." Mannioni said. "I feel that Dee-Mack is definitely a contender this year, if not a favorite, along with such strong teams as Planagan, Minook-Dana-Rutland and Chenoa."

Seniors give Lexington leadership

By Helen Flachner
Staff Writer

Lexington High school's Lady Minutemen will be looking to their senior team members to provide good leadership and examples. This, coach Shirley Kramer feels, along with team members working together as a unit, will be the key to a good season for the ladies.

Lady Minutemen returning lettermen are co-captains and seniors, Sue Janes, Patti Schreiber and Vicky Beard. Juniors are Kim Thornton, Lynette Sutter, Karren Jacobs, Patti Jones, Karen Wilken and Linda Schuller. Two sophomores who will be playing a key role on the team are setter, Holly Bachtold and Dawn Friedmannsky.

This year's Lady Minutemen are a young, inexperienced varsity level team. The seniors have been playing behind seven upperclassmen, so did not gain as much experience at this level, Kramer points out.

The Ladies are a "competitive group," Kramer said, "willing to work hard to achieve their individual goals."

Of the Midstate conference Kramer says, "last year, four teams shared the championship which indicates any team can be bumped off a given night."

"At this point I don't see any team dominating the conference. Home court advantage is an important factor, so it depends on how many games some of the teams will have at home."

"With some of the key Midstate games being played on the Lady Minutemen's home court this year, Kramer expects her Ladies to take advantage of that factor."

MDR battles lack of numbers

By JANE CLUVER
Staff Writer

The Minonk Mohawks start their season Sept. 7 at Heyworth hoping to pick up where they left off with an outstanding 8-4 record in 1963.

That will be difficult, however, because of a lack of numbers. Last season the Mohawks had 30 players, who provided depth to the team. This year Coach Innis plans to use his 11 best athletes on the field and play them both ways.

One of the key returning lettermen 306-pound Dan Dennis will be moved from running back to the offensive line this fall. He will be joined by senior lettermen Dan Wilson, Dan Schmitt, Chuck Kapraun and Jim Cinnamon.

Senior Jerry Jacek and sophomore Scott Rayner will be battling for the job of quarterback.

Coach Innis has always relied on a strong running attack. Senior Paul VonNordheim, junior Mike Glowacki, and sophomore Bill Dennis will be looking to aid that effort.

The Mid-State Conference race will be a wide open affair, with Innis forecasting Flanagan, Lexington, and Deer Creek-Mackinaw as being the teams to watch.

According to Innis, defense will be the big question mark for Minonk. The prime objective as the season opener nears is to stay healthy.

(Continued from page 4) Senior Janice Metz added that Saunemin, who lost several seniors last year, had a good junior varsity squad, and they will be tough also.

Coach Duane Hitchens has 14 girls on his junior varsity and varsity squads.

"We don't have a great number of players, but the ones who are out for volleyball can do a good job," said Hitchens.

"Attitude has been a great factor thus far," Hitchens said. "If the girls continue to have the excellent attitude they've shown so far, we should have no trouble winning at least 75 percent of our games.

Tri-Point opens the season on the road against Mt. Gilead Sept. 4, with returning senior starters Janice Metz, Dana Malone, Karen Haberkorn and Connie Kane. Mindy Roggenberg is the other senior member on the squad.

Corrine Richie is the only junior on the varsity squad. Sophomores include Julie Colclasure, Lynnette Holmgren, Leslie Harre, and Gina Rasham.

Redbirds to soar in '84

By HELEN FITCHORN
Staff Writer

The Chenoa Redbirds are expecting to soar high this football season. After two losing seasons, Coach Ed Thomas says his Birds "will be back in the hunt." Whether or not the Redbirds will claim a successful season will depend on the "emergence of the quarterback and the running back" and there are "capable candidates at both positions," according to Thomas, who can make the difference.

In their favor is the fact they are strong in number and interior line. "We win be very good and have considerable experience in the offensive and defensive lines," Thomas explained.

Key returning Redbirds will be the interior line and ends. Returning lettermen include Steve Feinhold, Eric Rhoda, Todd Chapman, Dan Roberts, Kyle Kauffman, Richard Rhoades, John Manzella, Carl Spence, Scott Hoselton, Tim Dehake, Dale Strike, Kevin Edwards, Len Landrus, David Ross, Rob Pickett, Jason Hatfield and Shawn Norman.

As Thomas sees it, Minonk, Flanagan and Lexington appear to be the Midstate conference favorites. But don't rule out the Chenoa Redbirds; they will be out to avenge their 34 overall and 14 conference record of last year.

Lady Birds expecting good exciting season this fall

By HELEN FITCHON
Staff Writer

If the Chenoa Lady Birds have their way, there will be no Midstate conference championship ties of any kind when this year's volleyball season ends. Last year's season ended with a four-way tie of Chenoa, Flanagan, Gridley and Minonk-Dana-Rutland.

The Lady Birds have four returning lettermen this season in Staci Rosenberger, Carol Simmons, Renee Murphy and Chris Kubiak. Filling in the "open places" will be "a strong group of juniors," according to coach Betsy Palmer.

As Palmer sees it, you can look for the Lady Birds to be "strong on their serves" and "competitive." You can also expect a "good, exciting season," from the Lady Birds.

Battle against drinking drivers lowers fatalities

The Illinois State Police believe that by utilizing troopers in numerous federally funded programs that are administered by the Illinois Department of Transportation has contributed to the reduction of traffic fatalities in Illinois and the increase in D.U.I arrests. Captain Charles G. McCardy, commander, District Six, Illinois State Police, Pontiac, emphasized that in single-vehicle crashes, where responsibility is apparent, between 65 and 75 percent of those fatalities tested have blood alcohol concentrations (BAC’s) of 10 or greater.

Keepin healthy....

by Fred H. Uhlig, acting director
Illinois Dept. of Public Health

Each summer, we issue warnings to Illinois residents to take precautions against tick bites, because of the potential for Rocky Mountain spotted fever. As you may know, the disease is transmitted to humans by ticks which have previously fed on infected wild animals, such as rabbits, field mice, etc.

This summer, we are experiencing another kind of tick-borne disease called tularemia, or rabbit fever. Cases of tularemia are rare in Illinois - only three cases occurred during the six-year period 1979-1983. But, four cases have already been reported in Illinois this year.

And, what's even more surprising is that the four cases that occurred this year, were caused by tick or deer-fly bites. (Deerflies are large flies, up to half-an-inch long, which bite hard and often leave a drop of blood at the site of the bite.) In Illinois, most cases of tularemia are caused by direct contact with an infected rabbit.

Tularemia is a bacterial infection. The first sign of this infection is usually a pimple-like bump, or papule, which appears at the site where the organism entered the skin. This papule, which generally appears three to five days following the bite of an infected tick or deerfly, usually develops into an open sore.

Other symptoms, which occur two to four days after the papule appears, are: abrupt onset of fever, chills, malaise and fatigue and a swelling of the lumph nodes that are closest to the open sore. Anyone who develops these symptoms should seek medical care immediately. And, when you do, be sure to tell the physician about any recent tick or deerfly bites. That information will help your doctor make a faster diagnosis.

Tularemia can be treated successfully with certain antibiotics. But, it can be fatal if it is not treated.

If you have contact with ticks or wild rabbits, take precautions to help prevent tularemia. When you're in a tick-infested area, wear protective clothing - long sleeves, trousers, sturdy shoes or boots and a head covering. In addition, use liberal amounts of an insect repellent that is effective in preventing tick bites.

Chenoa Harvest Days Sept. 8, 9

There will be plenty to do during the Chenoa Jaycee Harvest Days celebration the weekend of Sept. 8 and 9.

A freshly-cooked roast pork dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the park pavilion both days. Advanced bulk pork orders will also be filled. To purchase an advance ticket for the bulk pork, contact your local Jaycee member.

Newly added this year is a community wide garage sale. Sales will be held each day, all day. Maps with location of the sales marked will be available at the city park pavilion.

An agriculture show has also been added. The show will be held on Saturday with seed and implement dealers scheduled to attend.

A Kiddie carnival, sponsored by the Chenoa Junior Women's club, is also planned for opening day. Planned games for the children are scheduled to start at 11 a.m.

At 1:30 p.m. opening day, the Chenoa Fire department will perform a rescue demonstration.

A Horse Shoe pitching contest will run all day on Sunday at the recently installed pits at the city park. This contest will be held. There will be three age groups for both boys and girls-ages 8 and 9, 10 and 11, 12 and 13.

Prizes will be awarded to first, second and third place winners in all three groups. More information on this contest may be obtained by calling Jeff Wahls, 945-7561.

Also at 1 p.m. winners of the baby contest will be announced. Area children up to 18 months of age are eligible for the baby King and Queen contest.

To enter your child, send photo with child's name and age, parent's name and address, to Patsy Fever, 391 Kentucky Ave., Chenoa, or photo can be dropped off at Bank of Chenoa. Entries' pictures are on display at Bank of Chenoa where voting is taking place. All photos will be returned.

The winners will receive a $10 savings account from Bank of Chenoa, $19 gift certificate from Harms Home Furnishings, $19 gift certificate from Chenoa Pharmacy, and a case of juice from Deerman's IGA.

Events of both days will be held in the city park.

Profits from the celebration will be used to help sponsor various Jaycee community service projects such as the Easter Egg hunt, Christmas in Chenoa, flowers to the elderly, Athlete of the Year, Arbor day and Outstanding Young Farmer.
